Professional Experience

Adam M. Bungay has 13 years of experience in the construction industry. After earning his Construction Management degree from the University of Washington, Adam worked for a union commercial specialty contractor estimating and managing a wide variety of projects from condominiums and high-rise office buildings, to industrial applications at manufacturing firms. He has worked closely with various general contractors including Turner Construction, Sellen Construction, Lease Crutcher Lewis, Opus Northwest, and Howard S. Wright.

In 2005 Adam graduated from Seattle University School of Law magna cum laude and in the top 5% of his class, earning several awards and scholarships. After interning at Safeco Insurance and passing the bar exam, he practiced law at the insurance defense firm of Gulliford, McGaughey & Dunlap, PLLC (now McGaughey, Bridges & Dunlap). His practice included representing subcontractors and suppliers in construction defect and property damage claims. In the summer of 2006 he went into solo practice, representing owners, commercial contractors, custom home builders, and real estate investors in transactions and litigation. Although he is licensed to practice law in Washington, Adam's employment at Corke Amento does not include the practice of law and he does not offer legal advice to Corke Amento clients.

At Corke Amento Adam performs a variety of duties including construction management, building investigation and forensics, construction claim preparation and analysis, dispute resolution and litigation support.
